Question: (Explain in detail)

Please advise if a Prime SDVOSB Contractor, having a teaming agreement with a major subcontractor will allow that subcontractor's past experience, meeting the requirements set forth in the RFP, to satisfy the project's current requirements as stated within the RFP; and if so, will the past experience information be evaluated equally to the Prime SDVOSB Contractor?

Response:

Veteran-Owned Small Business (VOSB) as prime contractor will be reviewed to determine if the vendor meets eligibility and experience requirements of solicitation VA245-16-B-0050.

A properly executed teaming arraignment agreement/ joint venture will permit the parties of a teaming arraignment agreement/ joint venture to be collectively considered to act as a prime contractor. In addition, individual parties to the teaming arraignment agreement/ joint venture will be reviewed to determine experience and meet requirements as a responsible business.
